DARK AND DREARY.

The Scene of Milwaukee's Holocaust Hunting for Bodies.

Watchman's Account of the Breaking Out of the Fire.

Exact Number of Victims Still Unknown--List of the Dead.

MILWAUKEE, January 11.—A force of 125 workmen has been engaged all day at the ruins of the ill fated Newhall hotel, searching for bodies. None were found up to seven this evening. The remaining walls were pulled down because they endangered the workmen, but the north wall, which is a partition wall with the adjoining building, might tumble at any moment.

The Times says the fire was ignited through the instrumentality of malicious persons. A gentleman who occupied quarters in the house said the building had been set on fire at least four times in the past two years. In the present instance the theory seems to leave no doubt of incendiarism.

Three bodies remain at the morgue, two of the servant girls. The third is the body of an elderly woman, unidentified.

William McKenzie, night watchman of the hotel, says: "I had made my rounds as usual and nothing unusual observed. The barroom was occupied till after 3 o'clock. At 3 30 I took a trip to the top floor in the elevator. Coming down I noticed a slight smoke and reaching the office on the second floor the smoke was so dense that I could go no further in the elevator. Arousing the clerk, I rushed down stairs and found smoke in stifling volumes in the foot of the elevator shaft. I then started back to awaken the people and by the time I had reached the third floor the heat had cracked the glass in the elevator doors. The fire must have started at the bottom of the elevator shaft and there was nothing anywhere around it that could have burned so quickly."

John Gilbert, the comedian's, condition is more favorable to-day although consciousness is not recovered.

Among the lost is Captain Jas. P. Vose, of the United States engineer corps. Five railroad men were killed. L. K. Smith, of Kar[illegible]lty, employed on the St Paul road; Walter Scott, of Dubuque, also on the St. Paul road; Joen Morteil and R. Howie, Wisconsin Central, and General C. Smith, local agent for the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern.

The following persons registered their names to-day at a place designated for the purpose. Wm. A. Dewess, Wilmington, George F. Lee, Charles Fromel, Wm. R. Bu[illegible]enbeck and W. H. Crampton, Chicago; W. A. Lovelle, Miss Amelia Herbert and Miss Mattie Dunlap, of the Madison Square Co.; A. J. Kellogg, Racine; A. J. Cowe, New York; Orange Williams, Janesville, Mr. Claflin, Chicago, J. Q Roberts, Troy, N. Y.; Dick Moran, Beloit, E. Erickson, Palmyra; Wallace D. Elder and Emil Fish, New York; Mrs. H. B. Harshaw, Oshkosh; Edward Mead, second porter.

Toward evening pieces of flesh were found under the servants' quarters, but in such a state that the doctors could not determine whether it was human or not. There were 10 guests and 67 employes in the building. Of those twenty have so far been identified among the dead; forty-eight are missing and sixty seven are known to be saved, leaving forty-two unaccounted for, who are supposed to be in the ruins.

The dead are:
Allen Johnson, Milwaukee.
Mrs. Allen Johnson, Milwaukee.
D. G. Powers, Milwaukee.
Walter Scott, Milwaukee.
T. E. Vanloon, Albany, N. Y.
Mrs. John Gilbert, Chicago.
J. J. Hough, Maroa, Ills.
Maggie Sullivan, Milwaukee.
Mary Conroy, Milwaukee.
Mary McDade, Mukwannago.
Mary McMahen, of Lyndon.
Bessie Brown, Milwaukee.
Ottelle Walkersdorf, Milwaukee
Augusta Glese, Milwaukee.
Bridget O'Connell, Du Prairie.
Nora Flannigan, Waukesha.
Mitchell Burlet, Milwaukee.
T. B. Elliott, Milwaukee.
Mary Anderson, Doylestown.
Julia Fogarty, Oconomowoc.
Missing are of guests:
R. Howie, Milwaukee
Miss Libbie Childs, Milwaukee.
Prof. H. Mason, Milwaukee.
Capt. George P. Vose, Milwaukee.
L. A. Brown, Milwaukee.
Mrs. L. W. Brown, Allegheny, Pa.
John H. Foley, Milwaukee.
A. H. C. Claflin, Chicago.
Bradford Kellogg, Milwaukee.
Louis Smith, Milwaukee
Quintus Brown, St. Louis.
Dan Martel, Milwaukee.
Charley Kelsey, of Tom Thumb company.
W. A. Hall, La Porte, Ind.
Geo. H. Redd, Manitowoc, Wis.
R. W. Griggin, Milwaukee.
W. D. Rowell, Freeport, Ills.
Wm. Smith, Chicago.
R. G. Butler and family, Milwaukee.
Jas. A. Ernst, Shullsburg.
A child companion to Miss Childs.
Wyman E. Fullmer, Oconomowoc.

The remainder of the missing are servants. Forty-eight of the missing are known to be in the ruins, which makes the number of lives lost 68.

To-night all is dark and dreary at the scene of the holocaust. Not a single body has been recovered to-day. The toppling walls, some of which towered a hundred feet skyward, were pulled down and the men attempted to reach the bodies in the smouldering ruins. The crowd rushed forward at the cry of "a body," but it proved to be only an article of clothing. Henry Grier, a brave fireman, fearlessly scaled the quaking walls and fastened the ropes with which they were pulled down. Much apprehension is felt on account of the insecurity of the northern partition wall which may fall at any moment and add to the already terrible disaster.

Mr. Rose, secretary of the local board of underwriters, examined the building two weeks ago and considered it very unsafe in the kitchen The chimney walls were cracked and fire had broken out in that part only a few days before.

In the midst of numerous expressions of sympathy and offers of aid for the sufferers from all parts of the union the common council, this afternoon, engaged in the disgraceful action of squabbling over the expense for the rescue of the dead bodies, some members even demanding to quit work if stockholders of the Newhall House association would not be willing to reimburse the city. The scene has created indignation amounting to threats whenever it became known. After two hours hard fighting they concluded to go on with the work of rescuing bodies, but made no appropriation for night work. The board of supervisors acted handsomely, appointing a committee with unlimited power to act.

Following is a correct list of those known to be saved: Elisha Starr, James Ludington, Wm. E. Cramer and lady, L. W. Brown, Mrs. Hallett and child, all of Milwaukee; C. Richer, New York, James Wardrobe, New York; J. A Prlusin, Sheboggan Falls; J. V. Audewall, Cedar Grove; W. E. Lapeco, New York, Prof. Tomlins, Chicago; B. W. Busenbock, Michigan Central road; M. Claflin, Chicago; M. C Jenkins, W. F. Schmidt, Ed Burnham, R. A Connaly and S. A. Dixon, all of Chicago, W. T. Durard, Milwaukee, S. Craig, Des Moines, C. W. Riggs, Grand Rapids; J. T. Richie, Louisville; Tom Thumb and wife, L. W. Brown of Allegheny. His wife perished. S. Martin, C. France and D. Cohen, commercial travelers; the whole Artsdel family, E. P. Hoff, Milwaukee; John Gilbert, of the Minnie Palmer company, Miss M. Gyette, Sheboygan Falls; E. Pollock Lancaster; Jas. McAlpine, Milwaukee, A Hardy, Milwaukee, Mrs. McGuire, Bridget O'Neil, and sister, a German girl first name Frances; Julia Burns, Kitty Baylis, Annie Bendega, Amelia Slott, Amelia Miller, Dora Cola, May Gunn and Mary McAnly, all servants, Misses Mattie Dunlap, Amelia Herbert, W. H. Compton and W. H. Lovelle, of the Madison Square Co.; Ben Tyce, chief clerk.

W. A. Hall, of Laporte, Ind., is not missing. He was found in Dr. Bartlett's office, both legs broken from the jump from the fourth story window.

Army Seniority.

WASHINGTON, January 11.—The report to the senate of the military committee on the subject of seniority in the army says: Your committee do not believe it is within the [illegible] sonable power of congress in the face of the fact that life is short to undertake to minutely review and reconsider and remedy anew all the seeming or imagined grievances of every officer now in the regular army in regard to date of entry into service and relative rank, etc, after the [illegible] of [illegible] of the late war [illegible] the [illegible] of a large number of officers in the volunteer service and the reorganization and reduction of the regular army. The present dates of entry into the service and relative rank of all [illegible] and acted on for years. They have been nominated by the president and confirmed by the senate and have accepted. There must be an end to legislation on these questions or confusion worse confounded, strifes and contentions will exist and increase with every act of congress, and the valuable time of officers of the army can be more profitably and pleasantly employed than in overhauling and attempting to correct or change the existing status. Let peace prevail in the army as in civil life. Your committee recommend that the bill and the whole subject matter therein referred to be indefinitely postponed.

Windom's Chances.

ST. PAUL, January 11. The republican senatorial caucus to-night nominated William Windom by 61 votes to 1 for Governor Davis and 1 for G. E. Cole. Fifty republicans staid out of the caucus. Windom's friends claim that 12 more will vote for him in the legislature, making 76 votes. It will take 70 to nominate

Blackburn Misrepresented

WASHINGTON, January 11.—Representative Blackburn has evidently been misrepresented here as well as in Kentucky, in the matter of his candidacy for the speakership. He has been charged by the friends of Mr. Carlisle with having pledged himself, when on the stump, not to be a candidate. This is not correct. In fact, the only time the question ever came up on the stump Mr. Blackburn distinctly declared that he himself would be a candidate.

Small Pox Epidemic.

WASHINGTON, January 11. Owing to the small pox epidemic in Baltimore health inspectors have been placed at depots and passengers are closely scrutinized, while each turnpike leading into the city are watched by the police. Two thousand cases are reported in Baltimore, and of these only 800 have been reported to the health department.

GENERAL MATTERS.

Valuable Business Block in Des Moines Burned.

Comments on the Defalcation of Tennessee's Treasurer.

Lot M. Morrill, ex-Senator from Maine, is Dead.

Fire at Des Moines

DES MOINES, January 12 —Fire is now raging in Clapp's block, 132 feet square, and in which are located the Citizens' National bank and many fine stores and numerous offices, including the Western Union telegraph office, and as it is apparently beyond all control the whole block seems sure to go, but little of the goods or furniture being saved. The loss bids fair to be at least $300,000. The Masonic hall in the Clapp block has gone with all the records and $8,000 worth of regalias At midnight it looks as if 164 feet square of the best part of the city would be in ruins

12.45 A. M —At this hour the whole block is on fire and will be consumed, together with most of its contents in the stores and offices. The most of the property of the bank located in the corner room is being saved. The Western Union telegraph office has been removed to the Rock Island depot. The principal losses are: Conigskey, Humphries & Morris, W. L. White, Matthew & Leslie, and Price The block was owned by Mr. E R. Clapp, was valued at $100,000 and was insured for $40,000. Very little was saved in the offices above and nothing it is said has been saved from the Masonic Hall which occupied most of the third floor.

Lot M. Morrill Dead

AUGUSTA, Maine, January 10.—Hon. Lot M. Morrill died this morning He suffered very little, and his last moments were without pain or struggle. The members of the family and attending physicians were present during the last moments. The dying man recognized his family, and with his last breath attempted to bid them farewell, but with the word on his lips his spirit passed away

The [illegible] Robbery

WASHINGTON, January 11.—The embezzlement of $500,000 of state funds by Marshal T. Polk, treasurer of Tennessee, rapidly grows as a subject of general comment here. The Tennessee congressmen are annoyed by [illegible] questions as to the cause and circumstances of this astonishing transaction. The Associated Press telegram, giving the substance of the Chattanooga Times' comment of the defalcation, intensifies the subject, and provokes conflicting expressions of opinion from the democratic and republican congressmen not only of Tennessee but of other states. The persistent manner in which the bourbon democracy of Tennessee advocated repudiation, the savage fierceness with which they conducted the campaign, and the insults which they heaped upon those members of their party who favored the "maintenance of state and national credit," as expressed in the Cincinnati platform of 1880, are remembered, and are being quoted here without stint or apology. But the culmination of all this odious political doctrine finds expression in the Chattanooga Times, a state credit democratic paper, which, among other things, says:

There is no question but the habit of a large section of [illegible] many of our public men, of treating lightly, scornfully and flippantly, the claims of the state's creditors, has had a most damaging effect upon public morals in general, and lowered especially the tone of official morals, and the sense of obligation. Colonel Polk was, without doubt, a victim both to the wretched looseness of the laws, and the administration of executive business at Nashville, but he was also a victim of the prevailing low tone of public honor, fostered by the spirit of repudiation, by the wanton and wicked attempt to readjust an almost generous and honorable settlement. This denouement leaves Tennessee the very lowest in the list of defaulting states."

The democratic congressmen from Tennessee say that they deplore the defalcation, but at the same time charge the responsibility to the undue influence of persons in whom Polk had implicit confidence. As all of the Tennessee democratic congressmen are repudiators, they naturally resent this article of the Times. Senator Jackson, the only state credit democrat from Tennessee in congress, is said to be very much shocked by the occurrence. Whether he shares the opinion of the Times, which belongs to his faction of the democracy, is not known. However, as the state credit democrat for governor received only six to seven thousand votes, the Tennessee democracy can have but little, if indeed any, claim to honesty regarding their public debt.

The three republican congressmen, Messrs. Moore, Pettibone and Houk, not only regret the occurrence, but boldly attribute the defalcation to the doctrine of repudiation so persistently advocated by the democratic leaders in Tennessee. They believe that this last chapter in the disgraceful conduct in Tennessee's public men will affect her future prosperity in many respects. They say that Mr. Polk, in stealing the tax-payers' money, has carried out the precepts of repudiation, as taught by the democratic leaders and applied by the voters of that party. There seems to be a general expectation among Tennessee politicians that one effect of this defalcation will be to expose the Nashville ring of political speculators.

Protecting Yellowstone Tourists' Pockets.

WASHINGTON, January 11.—The form of lease for the Yellowstone park privileges, which has been held awaiting the result of Senator Vest's resolution of inquiry in regard to the exclusive control which the secretary of the interior proposed to grant to those who desired to build hotels, telegraphs and other accommodations for the public, as a business venture, was amended to-day by Assistant Secretary Joslyn, to conform with the report of the senate committee on public lands. A clause has been added which provides that the privileges which it is proposed to grant to the parties signing the lease, shall not be exclusive, but shall be open to others The secretary of the interior will have the power to decide between the applicants for sections of the park, and all lessees are to be under his immediate control Any violation of the terms of the lease, which fixes a rate of charges for all accommodation provided for visitors, can be punished by the secretary, who has the power to take away the privilege abused The amended lease was sent to Senator Vest to-day for his inspection, and it is believed by the interior department officials that it will meet his approval It is expected that the new form of lease will be signed before the end of next week by the representatives of the company engaged in the enterprise

Drought in New England

BOSTON, January 11 —The Journal prints the details of the effects of the prolonged drought in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. In Manchester, New Hampshire, some 2,000 operatives are idle, the mills shutting down The product of Maine saw mills is reduced twenty million feet Rivers are lower than for half a century. Hundreds of persons are compelled to resort to snow water and cattle are driven miles to ponds and brooks. The Merrimac river is lower than ever The great mills at Nashua and Great Falls, besides those at Manchester, are running on half to two-thirds time and losses to employers and employes are enormous

Indian Troubles in British Columbia

WASHINGTON, January 11 —The secretary of the treasury has a telegram from Captain L. N Stodder, commanding the revenue cutter Oliver Walcott, dated Victoria, B C., January 10th, as follows: Received communication from the prime minister of British Columbia, asking assistance at Fort Simpson. Indian troubles; no British naval vessel in those waters; assistance urgent.

Secretary Folger received answer as follows: Revenue steamer Walcott is permitted to be present at Fort Simpson and prevent violence, but no force is authorized unless attack is imminent against the whites, and then only on written request of the British Columbian authorities

Flood Sufferers

VIENNA, January 11 The requirements of refugees arriving at Raab in large numbers in a half starved condition cannot possibly be met by that place, although all are doing their utmost for their relief. Soldiers have been placed along the dykes to prevent people returning home over dangerous ice. Repairing of dykes has been impossible since frost set in The whole Rhine valley is frozen over. The entire village of Patahaza has been washed away by floods

A Disaster Escaped.

KANSAS CITY, January 11 —The Wabash "Cannon-ball" train, due here at 9 o'clock this morning, was derailed by spreading of the track near Miami Junction, about 70 miles from here. The sleeper, two coaches and a baggage car rolled down an embankment and the sleeper caught fire and burned. Strangely no one was killed and injuries are generally slight. One or two are suffering from broken limbs.

Familiarity with Danger.

LONDON, January 11 The Daily News, commenting on the burning of the Newhall house at Milwaukee, says: It is probably another illustration of the indifference which familiarity with danger creates It is difficult to imagine how people could consent to sleep night after night in a place known to be dangerous.

Breach of Pr[illegible]

NEW YORK, January 11, In the suit in the Brooklyn court by Alice [illegible] against Henry Fleming a New York merchant, to recover $15,000 for breach of promise of marriage, the jury gave a verdict for the full amount claimed. A storm of applause greeted the verdict.

Disappointed Love.

ERIE, Pa, January 11.—Reid Mooney, a young man living near Waterford, this county, entered a store in that village this morning, bought a revolver and stepping on the sidewalk shot himself through the body. The ball just grazed the heart and produced a fatal wound. Cause disappointment in love

No Census Money.

WASHINGTON, January 11.—One hundred and five clerks were discharged from the census offices to-day. One hundred and fifty clerks remain. There is money enough to pay salaries for 30 days. If an appropriation is not made by that time the entire offices will be closed till the first of June.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, January 11 —Governments unchanged, except threes, which were ⅛ lower. railroad bonds generally strong; state securities dull. The stock market was dull during the entire day, being remarkably dull in the last hour, but was firm at the close. Closing prices generally ⅛ to ¾ per cent. lower than yesterday. Transactions 140,000 shares.

Mining stocks active, firm. Sierra Grande advanced from 2.45 to 2.85; Robinson 1 25 and 1.30; Standard 6 50, Horn Silver 6 25. Belle Isle 1.35 to 1 20, closing 1 30; North Belle Isle 76 to 80, and Etcho 10 to 11. Sales of the day 127,905 shares.

Pipe Line certificates advanced from 81 to 90½, closing 89¼.

COLORADO AFFAIRS.

Yesterday's Proceedings of the General Assembly.

Farmers Petition in Favor of the Agricultural College.

Postoffice Changes in Colorado Last Week.

General Assembly

DENVER, January 11 —The senate met at 2 o'clock The following bills were read the second time and referred

By Senator Tilford, to establish criminal courts, referred to the judiciary committee. To exempt the personal earnings of debtors from judgment and execution, referred to the judiciary committee

By Senator Stanger, to provide for the payment of salary and expenses of the fish commissioner Referred to the finance committee.

By Senator Eddy, to amend chapter 101, general laws Referred to committee on state institutions

By Mr. Eddy, to repeal chapter [illegible] general laws Referred to committee on state institutions

By Mr Freeman to create criminal courts in Lake and Arapahoe counties Referred to the committee on judiciary

By Mr. Corder, to amend section 25 of the school laws Referred to the committee on education

By Senator Tilford, to provide for the reception of the Grand Army of the Republic, at their national encampment Referred to the finance committee

On motion of Senator Weston the sergeant-at-arms was instructed to secure revised copies of the statutes for the use of senators

At 2 40 o'clock the senate adjourned

The afternoon session of the house was called to order at 2 o'clock by Speaker Davis Before proceeding to regular business the speaker handed to the clerk an invitation from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, inviting members to attend the meeting of that body to-night. Without taking any decided action on it the house proceeded to consideration of the regular order of business

Mr Ballard presented the following resolution, which, on motion of Mr. Clark, was reported to the committee on agriculture

Resolved, That the following communication from the state grange be accepted and placed on file.

WHEREAS, The farmers of Colorado recognize the State Agricultural college of Colorado, located at Fort Collins, as a school that is best calculated to give their sons and daughters a thorough practical education, at much less expense than any other institution of public character, and they feel the success in future of agriculture and its votaries in this state will be measured by the success of the above college, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Colorado State Grange, representing the farmers all over our state, express it as our earnest wish and desire that the one-fifth mill tax for the support of said college be made perpetual and the appropriation of $10,000 asked for by its trustees be granted by our legislature

Resolved, That we oppose first, last and all the time senate bill No. 13, which proposes to unite and consolidate the State University of Agriculture and the School of Mines, that we want our agricultural college to be so in fact as well as in name. While we are opposed to uniting these schools we are friendly to them all and pay our school taxes cheerfully for their support.

A large number of bills were referred after second reading to the judiciary committee

Leave of absence was granted Messrs. Bowen and Abeyta, the latter gentleman's leave extended until Monday.

At 3.30, as the chairman of the judiciary committee had handed in the report, on motion of Mr Mears the house adjourned

Denver Dots

DENVER, January 11 —The awful holocaust in the Newhall house, Milwaukee, was the general theme of conversation among members of both houses of the legislature this morning, and it is very probable that a bill will be passed during the present session regulating fire escapes in hotels and large buildings.

State Treasurer Fred Walsen filed his official bond with the secretary of state this morning.

The state supreme court will meet to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock

COLLEGE NOTES.

Change in the Time the Library is Open.

A change has been made in regard to the time for drawing books The library is to be open from a quarter after twelve till half-past one every day except Saturdays and Sundays

Rev. E. B. Tuthill is now in charge of the students who sit in the north wing. He is also teaching English literature

Mr. Ellsworth has been absent in Kansas for a few days.

Those students who were conditioned are beginning to experience the chief sorrow of such a state—the re-examination

The College Athletic association will hold its regular meeting this afternoon

I understand the public school boys want to play another game of foot ball to-morrow. Whether the arrangements will be made I cannot say

The Occidental club failed of a quorum last Friday evening The debate in the Irving Institute was omitted on account of the absence of one debater. Both societies will meet to-night Two of the Irving's leading debaters will, on account of a sort of challenge, discuss the question whether the government should take charge of railroads The public is invited

A committee of three has been appointed to report amendments to the Irving constitution and by-laws

Professor Loud's programme shows a number of vacancies, but he has shown his goodness of heart by allowing the class in analytical geometry to recite once oftener each week

MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Theodore Thomas Proposes Coming to Denver.

Yesterday's Denver Republican contains the following of the musical festival which Theodore Thomas proposes giving in Denver:

It has been an open secret for several days that Mr. Locke, agent for Theodore Thomas, en route to San Francisco, to attend to the final arrangements for a grand Occidental Musical Festival, to be held there in June, is in the city, and that certain prominent gentlemen were endeavoring to arrange with Mr. Locke for a Colorado state festival The scheme culminated yesterday in the board of directors of the exposition building placing that institution at the service of Mr Thomas, only charging a nominal rental in case the festival should be a success financially. The board passed a resolution to the effect that Mr. Thomas' coming should be encouraged in every manner possible, and that they, as a board and as citizens, would further the festival purely in the interest of Denver and the state, since a festival by Theodore Thomas would undoubtedly attract the attention of the entire country, and would, in this respect, place Denver on a footing with Chicago or Cincinnati.

At 3 p m the committee appointed by the board of trade met at their rooms with Mr. Locke. It was decided to at once begin the canvass for subscribers for a double season ticket to the number of 1,000 at $25 each This double season ticket to admit two persons to reserved seats to each of the seven performances, fourteen tickets in all for the above sum, which is less than $2 per seat. The subscribers also to have first choice of reserved seats without extra cost, and not to pay for same before about June 1, when the tickets will be delivered.

It will cost about $5,000 to put in the raised seats, the huge stage for the orchestra and chorus of 600 voices from all parts of the state, and the 50 elegant opera boxes around the edge of the balcony. These boxes will have a name after some distinguished musical celebrity, for instance, the Patti, or the Nilsson box. The arrangements will be most complete in every particular, and no better building for festival purposes could have been prepared, after the changes are effected

But all must necessarily depend upon placing the 1,000 tickets as above stated. Lists to which signatures can be attached may today and hereafter be [illegible] in the city and in the hands of the committee. But it is expected citizens will not wait to be called upon, but will leave their names at once at the music houses The tickets will not be delivered or paid for until next June, but it is necessary to forward to Mr. Thomas an answer as to what Denver can do, in a reasonable length of time. Mr. Thomas would bring about seventy artists and at least four celebrated solo vocalists from abroad. The chorus would number at least 600 and be well drilled. The Hallelujah chorus, by 600 voices, would alone be worth the price of the ticket.

If Denver secures this festival it will be the first city of the size to have done so, it being generally believed that only such centers of population as New York, Chicago and Cincinnati can indulge in such gigantic affairs. Such a festival does more for the advancement of a city than any other means and adds a direct increase of value to every spot of property At least 12,000 visitors will be brought into the city, and the hotels, railroads, dry-goods and millinery houses will, together with all business, be stimulated by, and keep pace with, the harmonies of Thomas and his unequaled orchestra.

The Denver Inter Ocean is pretty thoroughly round out and the state press is showing it up. The alleged independence was a good card for awhile but could not be played for ever.

Our Washington dispatches charge the stealing of $500 000 from the Tennessee treasury to the loose ideas of honesty inculcated by democratic repudiationists. This is just. When the people of Tennessee argued themselves into thinking it was right to steal from their creditors, it was an easy matter for a state treasurer to excuse himself for stealing from the state treasury. It will be a cheap experience, if the people of that state see the moral "Honesty is the best policy," if the proverb is not the highest morality.

This seems to be a bad year to elect senators as well as state tickets. Caucuses nominate, but legislatures will not confirm. Among those at present in danger is Senator Windom. He is one of the few deserving of reelection. He has had large legislative experience and has been a strong man among strong men. He began his service in the house at the age of 32 in 1869 and served until 1870, when he was appointed to fill a vacancy in the senate. He has served in the senate since except the few months he was secretary of the treasury in 1881 when congress was not in session. He has served on important senate committees and is considered one of the most useful business men in the senate.

Ex Senator Lot M Morrill, whose death is announced this morning, has been a prominent figure in national politics for twenty years. He was born in 1815 and was educated at Waterville college. Until he entered active politics when about forty he was actively engaged in the practice of law. In 1854 and 1856 he served in the Maine state senate. In 1858, 1859 and 1860 he was elected governor of Maine. When Hannibal Hamlin was elected vice-president, Mr. Morrill was elected to fill the vacancy in the United States senate and took his seat in January 1861. He was re elected in 1863 for six years, but failed to be elected again as his own successor, being succeeded in March, 1869, by Hannibal Hamlin, whose seat he took in 1861. In September 1869 Senator Fessenden died and he was elected for the unexpired term and also a full term from 1871 to 1877. In May, 1876, he was appointed by General Grant as secretary of the treasury and resigned his seat in the senate to accept, and was succeeded by Senator Blaine. He was secretary of the treasury until the expiration of Grant's term in March, 1877. The same year he was appointed by President Hayes as collector of the port of Portland. In 1875 he came to this state as a member of the Ute commission to secure the purchase of the famous ten mile strip near Ouray. While on this commission he spent several weeks at Manitou, and his worth and ability were recognized by all our citizens who were brought in contact with him. During this visit he delivered an address in behalf of Colorado college at an outdoor festival. He was always highly esteemed by those brought in contact with him as a man of good ability, unimpeachable integrity and devotion to public interests.

COLORADO AS AN AGRICULTURAL STATE

The above is the title of a new book by Mr W. L. Pabor, the receipt of which we acknowledged a few days ago. It is published by Orange Judd & Co., of New York. Several books have been published within the last three years for the purpose of giving information to inquiries in regard to the state. Most of these have been written to sell and hence they were made readable rather than instructive. Stock raising and farming were treated as subjects of romance rather than business. These books have interested people in Colorado but have not really imparted much solid information for the new settler or the careful investigator of our resources and methods of production. The only book that we now think of that contained much invaluable statistical information was Fossett's Colorado. This book was comprehensive and treated of all our industries. It could not be very complete in the treatment of any one industry. The book by Mr Pabor has the merit of treating one Colorado industry fully and completely. It does not attempt to cover too much ground, and hence is successful. While packed full of information and statistics it is written in the easy pleasant style Mr Pabor possesses. Naturally a poet, his descriptions are frequently colored with a poet's fancy. But he does not draw on his imagination for any of his facts. For twelve years he has been a careful student of our agricultural resources and districts, and we know of no other person in the state better equipped to write such a book. It is no less interesting and valuable to a resident of the state than to those who propose to come here and settle as farmers. It is a book that anyone should possess who wishes to be intelligent in regard to this state. A glance at the contents will show this.

It opens with an "Introduction," which gives a general view of agriculture in Colorado as compared with the east. It is followed by an excellent chapter which gives a short history of the state and territory, and a very complete geographical description of the country. After this is a chapter on colonization, which gives a complete history of the Greeley and other colonies. The question of irrigation, the peculiar feature of farming in Colorado, is fully treated and contains valuable suggestions to our farmers. It is a fact generally admitted that our irrigation privileges are not fully improved. This book estimates that there are 7,000,000 acres of land susceptible of irrigation if the privileges were properly improved, but states that there are not less than 1 250,000 acres that could be cultivated with our present loose and careless system. At present there are only about 100,000 acres under cultivation, so that there is still plenty of room for new settlers. The chapter on "How Farming Pays" is evidently the most carefully prepared part of the book. While the results will astonish the farmer in fertile Iowa as well as the farmer in the barren hills of New Hampshire they are drawn from actual experience and are not exaggerated. The casual observer who has noticed the rapid growth of wealth of the farmers in Boulder, Larimer and Weld counties within the last three years will have no doubt of the accuracy of these figures. This general treatment of the subject is followed by detailed descriptions of the different farming districts in the state which is of special interest to settlers and the book concludes with chapters on subjects kindred to farming, such as bee culture, fruit growing, cattle and sheep, garden culture etc. The book cannot be too highly praised or too widely circulated. It will help people the rich valleys of western Colorado with farmers and must excite an interest in colonization. Our mining camps give a splendid market for all ranch products, a market that no other agricultural state possesses. We still buy $10 000 000 worth of cereals from Kansas and other states of the Missouri valley. This all might be produced here at a large profit, if more of our land were cultivated.

A Bangorian Banged

Bangor Commercial

"My son," said an Ontario street mother, "go down to the grocery and get me a can of green peas." "I should squirm to wiggle," answered the boy. "Go on, I tell you." "I should limp to jump." "If you don't go this instant I will tell your father when he comes home." "I should blow to tattle." "Never mind, sir." "I should whoop to squeal." When the father came, the mother said "I wish you would whip Tom. He positively refused to go down to the grocery, and told me I was a tattler and that he would jump on me if I didn't mind." "Tom." "Yes, sir." "What was that you said to your mother to day?" "Never said nothing." "Then I'm a story teller, and you a pretty boy," said the mother. "Look here, young man, if you don't behave yourself, I'll thrash you, do you hear, sir?" "I should titter to snort." "Come here to me, sir." And the young man squirmed to wiggle, limped to jump, blew to tattle, whooped to squeal and tittered to snort.

Snake-Warming

New York Sun

A python, sixteen feet long, and five cobras and black snakes were brought to the Central park menagerie on Saturday afternoon. They had just arrived from Europe. No blankets had been provided by the exporter. The serpents had been merely tossed into a large wooden box, with some loose hay at the bottom and air holes at the top. During the voyage out the hay got wet and the box became soaked. When the snakes were landed they were found to be rigid, and so strongly knit together in a common mass that it seemed impossible to separate them. The big case was put on a truck, and the truckman drove the snakes to the park in the intense cold of Saturday.

When Superintendent Conklin got the consignment he was naturally indignant at receiving congealed serpents. How to separate them seemed a puzzle. "They'll have to be thawed out," said Superintendent Conklin. Tobias Lyness is the park menagerie engineer. He has charge of the great furnaces that consume three hundred tons of coal in a season. Tobias Lyness has been many years in the employ of the park. He is an American. Broad shouldered, muscular curly haired, cool. Lyness has no fear in him. He is no conjurer, charmer or tamer, merely a brave engineer.

"Lyness, I wish you would thaw out these serpents for me," said Superintendent Conklin, who supposed they were dead, "and when you have them uncoiled put them in bags where I can find them and have them sent to the taxidermist's on Monday."

"All right, sir," replied Lyness, and, calling the menagerie hands, he said "Dump those serpents in the engine room."

Tobias Lyness had a roaring fire in his half ton furnace. He raked down the coal, put on the blast, and when the fire was at white heat he threw open the furnace door. Then he seized the coil of frozen pythons, cobras, and black snakes and dragged it close to the fire.

Lyness lighted his pipe and sat reading a paper in front of the furnace, waiting for the serpents to thaw out. After a while, happening to look down, he saw six great serpents heads, with lustrous eyes and darting tongues. Lyness put down his pipe and paper. As he did so the coil of serpents quadrupled in size showing plainly enough that they were reviving.

"Come here, Tom!" shouted Lyness to Donohue, the night watchman. "Bring that box along, and shut up your dogs. We're going to have a circus."

Tom Donohue ran up. He looked in through the engine-room window, and said:

"Wait till I get the net, and we'll haul them in."

"Not be darned!" said Lyness.

The serpents kept wriggling and uncoiling themselves gradually. Finally the python began slipping from the mass. Lyness stepped forward and caught the python near the head with one hand, and lower down about the body with the other. Then he played with the snake. He choked him and manipulated him. "I'll thaw him out well," he said laughing. Finally he threw the snake into the box, which was quickly closed.

Lyness then turned his attention to the other snakes, and thoroughly thawed and boxed them all. Then he and Tom Donohue carried the box to the great glass snake-house and dumped the new comers among the reptiles already there.

Sarah Bernhardt's Greatest Triumph

Paris Letter

While a frightful tragedy was taking place elsewhere in the city Paris was clapping its hands and shouting over the magnificent interpretation of the cleverest, the most poignant drama to which Victorien Sardou has affixed his signature. "Wonderful! sublime! triumphant!" are only three of the epithets lavished upon Mme. Daurala Bernhardt, of whom Jules Claretie, in a transport, exclaims "We saw thee last an exquisite, capricious siren, we hail thee now as the perfection of art, as the incarnation of the tragic muse, the acme of all excellence." I do not exactly agree with this outburst, but in all truth I must admit that the actress has outdone herself in her last creation. At the premiere critics complained somewhat of her diction, which they found jerky, but she was nervous, frightened, indeed, for she had got it into her head that some of her rivals had so arranged matters that she might be coldly received, or even hissed. Those fears, however, were groundless. She met with the warmest of welcomes, which it is not a misnomer to call an ovation, and with a return of confidence also returned that "golden voice" which to French ears is her greatest charm. In "Fedora" Mme Bernhardt has probably won her greatest, her most legitimate triumph, and the author may thank the interpreters for the immense success of his drama, which, admirable as it is, does not entirely escape the reproach of plagiarism. Not that I would accuse M Sardou of having copied anybody, but there is one of its situations which is almost identical with a scene in Balzac's "Chouans," and its canvas bears a family resemblance to Belot's "Drame de la Rue de la Paix." Yet he saves himself cleverly, he avoids Balzac by giving a different denouement to the situation; Fedora continues to conceal her share in her lover's persecution whereas Adrienne confesses it, and so obtains forgiveness for a moment's treachery, according to Sardou's friends he has avoided the other danger by taking as a starting point the situation which Belot made his conclusion. M Belot's drama, unsuccessful in 1863 at the Odeon, where, strangely enough, Sarah Bernhardt, then only beginning to be known to fame, played the leading part, is about to be reproduced on the French stage.

By Universal Accord,

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS are the best of all purgatives for family use. They are the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, and their extensive use, by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, proves them the best and most effectual purgative Pill that medical science can devise. Being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use, and being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take. In intrinsic value and curative powers no other Pills can be compared with them, and every person, knowing their virtues, will employ them when needed. They keep the system in perfect order, and maintain in healthy action the whole machinery of life. Mild, searching and effectual, they are especially adapted to the needs of the digestive apparatus, derangements of which they prevent and cure, if timely taken. They are the best and safest physic to employ for children and weakened constitutions, where a mild but effectual cathartic is required.

MINING MATTERS

Notes Gleaned From Our Exchanges

Leadville Democrat

From Mr Albert Sherwin the reporter learns that the Stamm process, at the Elgin smelting works, will probably be tested during the first week in February

A proposition has been made looking toward the dissolution of the Dunkin mining corporation

Active preparations are in progress for the resumption of work on the Buckeye lode, on the north side of Fryer hill A new shaft house of commodious dimensions has been erected, and machinery is being placed in position

The Iron Hill consolidation has its new hoisting machinery in running order, and will soon begin making large shipments of ore The extraction of ore has already begun A contract for sinking a new shaft on this property has also been let

The Smuggler Consolidated mines are producing about forty tons of ore a day The company will pay another dividend on the 15th instant Since the incorporation of the Smuggler company, it has paid over $20 000 in dividends.

Mr D C Hobart, late of Chaffee county, has with other parties taken a lease on the Only Chance mine, on Rock hill He is now engaged in putting machinery on the property, and will soon be at work and shipping ore.

The lessees of the Amie mine are crowding all the miners they can advantageously work in the new and rich ore stopes opened in them Two and a half months yet remain in which to extract ore under their present contract

Quite an important new strike is reported to have been made in the Yankee and Breece Hill Mining company's property on Yankee Hill The ore is said to run from thirty to one hundred ounces to the ton.

The Glass Pendery mine will, in all probability, resume work in a few weeks Governor Tabor, Messrs Wallace, Foss, McMillen and other stockholders all favor a resumption of work. There is no question but that the property contains some good ore, and can be made to pay handsome returns

Mr Alex C Lassen, one of the directors and most active spirits in effecting an organization of the Hibernia company, and a resumption of the company's property, is here in the interest of the Hibernia He finds the company's affairs in rather a muddled condition and many obstacles in the way of a speedy resumption of work

The Matchless mine, under the economical and efficient management of Mr Lou D Leonard, ... working with a greatly reduced force, is nevertheless producing largely of high grade ore Since the first of January the mine has been running on half its former force, and the extraction of ore is confined exclusively to the lower or south end of the claim During the past week in cutting through a block of ore in this portion of the mine, a pocket of ore was encountered, rich in chloride of silver, and assaying 200 to 500 ounces to the ton A large body of medium grade ore has also been opened, from which shipments are being made to the stamp mill of the Leadville Gold and Silver Milling company The large ore stopes in the north workings are temporarily untouched, and will remain as reliable resources to fall back upon at any time that the south stopes weaken or play out

The Little Pittsburg Consolidated Mining company during the month of December, shipped 676 tons and 1,005 pounds of ore The company settled for 639 tons and 1,585 pounds Cash received, $5,851 07 Average price per ton, $8 23½

Leadville Herald.

A very promising strike has just been made in the Little Ida claim, lying on the western slope of Elk mountain, the Ten Mile district A shaft has been sunk on the property to the depth of ninety feet, in which a body of excellent ore has been struck and penetrated for a distance of seven feet, without yet passing through it. The average assay of the ore body is 54⅔ ounces in silver and 10 per cent. in lead, while a six inch streak yields returns of from three hundred ounces into the thousands in silver The owners of the Little Ida are Mrs O Whistler, J R McCurry and Pat O'Leary, all of Robinson, and all hard working people, to whom the strike will come as a veritable Godsend O'Leary several months ago had his hand blown off In the Wheel of Fortune mine, and is especially to be congratulated The strike is an important one for Ten Mile, as it promises to stimulate further development on west Elk mountain

The Gunnison News Democrat reports the following "N D Neerland, one of the old timers of the Elk Cup district, is reported as the latest man to strike it rich The strike was made a few days ago in the Glasgow claim, between the Jimmy Mack and the El Capitan, on West Gold hill, at the bottom of a forty-foot shaft. The ore is a hard carbonate and is found in large quantities At last accounts the workmen had drifted eight feet through solid ore and had not yet found the other wall Mr Neerland sent a lot of the ore to Denver for a mill run, but has not yet received his returns Old miners and experts, who have examined the ore, say that it looks very rich, and all seem to be of the opinion that the strike is a very valuable one Neerland was one of the first miners in Elk Cup, and has stuck to the camp like a brother, and richly deserves the good luck that has befallen him

Register-Call

The property of the Mary Murphy Mining company, at Chalk Creek, Chaffee county, is reported sold to an English syndicate for the sum of $3,500,000 Some months ago the same property was offered in New York for $125,000 The English syndicate, however, have been persuaded that there are $4,500,000 in sight in the mine, and if that be the case $3,500,000 is not too much to pay for it But if the remaining $4,500 000 remain in sight when the purchasers are ready to take it out, the Mary Murphy will prove a remarkable exception

Sir Christopher and the Carver

Miss—Phillimore's "Life of Sir Christopher Wren

Philip Wood was a village carpenter who had developed an uncommon skill in wood carving, and had made some striking figures for the adornment of his sweetheart's house, a lass above himself in rank and fortune. In the hope of improving his circumstances and thus lessening the disparity between them, he went to London, where he sought work in vain until his store of money was reduced to a single guinea The huge dome of St. Paul's was then rising above the smoke of London Philip Wood applied to the foreman for work in carving the wood for the interior Repulsed by him, he haunted the place day after day, and at last he attracted the notice of the great Sir Christopher himself "What have you been used to carving?" asked the architect The carpenter, in the extremity of his agitation, could only stammer out, "Troughs, your worship." "Troughs!" said Sir Christopher, "then carve me a specimen of your skill, a sow and pigs it will be something in your line—and bring it to me this day week" The poor fellow shrank away from the laughter of the workmen, and returned to his lodging in despair But he had a friend in his landlady who advised him to take Sir Christopher at his word, and carve the best sow and pigs he could in the time allotted With his last guinea he bought a block of ... wood and by using his utmost diligence finished the work in time, and took it under his apron to the appointed place. The architect was there, and beckoned the trembling carpenter to approach Upon inspection of the beautiful work Sir Christopher said "I engage you, young man, attend at my office to-morrow." A few hours after Sir Christopher came to the carver again and said "Mr. Addison wishes to keep your carving, and requests me to give you ten guineas for it." Then he added "I fear I did you some injustice, but a great national work is intrusted to me, and it is my solemn duty to mind that no part of the work falls into inefficient hands Mind and attend me to-morrow" It is a pleasure to know that the young artist did much of the carving of St Paul's, and married the girl of his heart, who could not have been sorry to change such a name as she had

The Candor of the Inquisitive Small Boy

Texas Siftings

The candor of the small boy is occasionally very distressing to his friends and relatives In the waiting room of the Austin depot there was a lady with a small boy, and also a benevolent looking old gentleman, who had a very singular protuberance on his nose which attracted the attention of the youth "Mister, did God make that round bump on your nose?" "Hush, Johnny," said the mother "I ain't talking to you, ma; I am talking to this gentleman." "That's a wen on my nose, little boy," remarked the gentleman pleasantly "What did you say?" "Wen" "That's what I say, when?" "What do you mean, little boy?" said the old gentleman, losing patience just a little "I want to know when God made that lump" He made the nose first, and then put the lump on it afterward, didn't He?" "Keep quiet, Johnny" "But ma, I'm not talking to you God had to make the nose first, before He put the lump on it, for if He made the lump first He would have no place to put it, would He?" "The nose was made first," replied the old man, who was a miracle of good nature. "I said so God made your eyes before He put the lump on your nose, didn't He?" "Yes" "Then you saw God put the lump on your nose, didn't you or did He put it on your nose when you was asleep?" Here the boy's mother managed to get him under control, but he broke out in a fresh place "Are you waiting for the train?" "Yes, my boy" "You are not waiting for the train that went off yesterday, are you?" "No, I am not, sonny" "I thought not, because if you was you would get left But you didn't tell me if you saw God put the lump—" Here his mother shoved her handkerchief in his mouth, and the scene was over

A Delicious Story

Washington Letter.

I heard a delicious story the other day about Governor Fish when he was secretary of state, Mr Orth who died on Saturday night, and Mr Maynard, When Orth and Maynard were appointed ministers to Austria and Turkey Mr Fish was very much concerned lest they should not observe the social proprieties when they reached the other side but he didn't know exactly how to meet the difficulty Finally he hit upon a plan, and, sending for Orth, said something like this to the Indiana statesman "Mr Orth, I have a favor to ask of you" "Anything I can do for you, Mr Secretary, I'll be glad to" "Thank you Mr. Orth, thank you, sir, you're very good Mr Maynard, you know, is an excellent gentleman, but he is not accustomed to the ways of society as you and I are," and the secretary smiled at the guileless Orth, who had on a sky blue necktie and unblacked boots After having clinched his point he continued "I am afraid he will invent some startling innovation on the costume usual among gentlemen when they are out in society He may startle the foreign courts with a red necktie and a sack coat and now what I want to ask you, Mr Orth, is to give him a hint, as you are both going over on the same steamer, about what you or I would wear on social occasions—the dress coat, black trousers and waistcoat and the simple white tie You know precisely how to do it, and you will oblige me greatly by attending to a matter of so much importance, as you, as a member of polite society, know it"

Various Causes

Advancing years, care sickness disappointment and hereditary predisposition all operate to turn the hair gray and either of them inclines it to shed prematurely AYER'S HAIR VIGOR will restore faded or gray, light or red hair to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action. It removes and cures dandruff and humors By its use falling hair is checked and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or the glands decayed Its effects are beautifully shown on brashy, weak, or sickly hair, on which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth Harmless and sure in its results, it is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is colorless; contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil or color white cambric; yet it lasts long on the hair, and keeps it fresh and vigorous, imparting an agreeable perfume.

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs Its long-continued series of wonderful cures, in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it It is absolutely certain in its healing effects and will always cure where cures are possible

There were two exciting runaways yesterday one a young colt belonging to John Hewitt, the other a horse attached to a milk wagon belonging to Mr. Sinton

Officer Frank Rawson last evening arrested George Swope, an old offender, for drunkenness. He spent the night in the cooler and will have a hearing this morning.

During the early part of next week the parquette of the opera house will be floored, in preparation for the Knights Templar ball to be given on Thursday, January 18th

The winter term of the district court of the fourth judicial district, at Buena Vista has been adjourned one week in consequence of the absence of Judge Harrison in California

Mr. Charles Howbert, who is thoroughly familiar with the nature of postoffice business will act as assistant postmaster during the absence of George E Van Dyne at the east.

Men were engaged yesterday in washing the windows and cleaning the woodwork in the new hotel. The furnaces, etc., are now in working order, and the building is about ready for the furniture.

The drunk and disorderly who was before Justice Pixley on Wednesday and who, at the time, was too much under the influence of ardent spirits to be granted a hearing, was taken before his honor again yesterday and fined $13 00.

Since taking charge of the Colorado Springs hotel Messrs A. J. Bletso and Ed. Atherton have succeeded in making it quite a popular resort. They are now feeding quite a large number of day boarders and setting a table that is giving general satisfaction.

The track of the Manitou branch of the Denver & Rio Grande between Colorado City and Herman's, where it is laid in the bed of the Fountain, is being ballasted up with slag from the Pueblo smelter to prevent it from being washed away by summer freshets.

The regular annual meeting of the Matt France Hose company will be held at Justice Pixley's office this evening As new officers to serve for the ensuing year are to be elected it is very important that there should be a full attendance of all the active members of the company

Considerable interest seems to be manifested in the prayer meetings held at the various Colorado Springs churches this week in observance of the week of prayer. The meeting at the Methodist Episcopal church last night was largely attended and was conducted by Dr. T. C. Kirkwood, of the Presbyterian church. To-night the meeting will be held at the Congregational church.

The Colorado Springs Troubadours are rehearsing every evening in the hopes of being able to give their entertainment in the opera house on Saturday night, January 20th. From what we can learn the programme will be far more interesting than the one given by this same organization last year. The proceeds of this entertainment will be for the benefit of the First Regiment Cavalry band, a musical organization that deserves the hearty support of our people.

Our ice men are now busily engaged in laying in their crop of ice for next season's use, and it is the best they have housed for several years. Mr. T. E. Johnson has placed on several of our street corners specimens of 20 inch ice which he is now putting up with which to supply the Manitou and Colorado Springs demand Messrs. Hammond & Iles have had about thirty men at work cutting and packing ice in their ice house south of the city. Last night they reported that they had stored away some 900 tons and expected to harvest another crop before the cold weather is over.

A very enjoyable literary, musical and social entertainment was given last night at the parish house of the Grace Episcopal church, corner of Weber street and Platte avenue. This building has just been remodeled by Mr. Metcalf for the use of the church and the entertainment last night was the first that has been given there since its completion. The early part of the evening was devoted to an interesting programme arranged for the occasion. Rev. G. T LeBoutillier delivered a short address, followed with music by Mrs. Hood. A recitation by Dr. Bull, music by Mrs. Dr. Reed, and reading by Dr Solly concluded the programme. The remainder of the evening was given to social intercourse and dancing This new building will be used for social gatherings, choir meetings, teachers' meetings, etc., instead of for the Sunday school, as heretofore stated.

17 000 ties 6½ feet long between Salida and Gunnison

Deliveries to be made during the months of February, March, April, May and June, 1883.

Said ties to be made of good sound live yellow pine or red spruce timber (the latter preferred) to be not less than seven nor more than seven and a half inches thick, hewn smooth and straight to two parallel faces, not less than seven inches wide at the narrowest place, and six and a half feet long between shoulders, except as to the 15 000 ties first named which must be eight feet long between shoulders. All to be peeled free from bark.

Proposals are also desired for furnishing the 35,000 eight foot ties of sawed timber, to be sawed square to seven inches thickness, eight inches face and eight feet long.

Bidders will specify at or near what points their delivery will be made and in what quantities in each place They will also indicate what number each of yellow pine and red spruce ties they propose to furnish. Inspections will be made of all ties delivered each month and payments for all accepted ties will be made in cash less ten per cent withheld until completion of contract during month following.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Address proposals to A. B Garner, purchasing agent, Denver, Colorado. a-3-8

Common-sense Remedy.

SALICYLICA.

No More Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.

Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

SECRET!

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.

Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
